Although Latin has long ceased to be the language of instruction for all university courses, as it once was at Oxford and Cambridge, at Paris and Bologna, it is traditional to retain it for limited use on occasions of great academic solemnity, such as university convocations. The use of Latin today is a symbol of our academic descent from those earliest universities of medieval Europe and a humble reminder that the search for truth is both new and ancient.

ALMA MATER

The hillside campus Douglas chose
Where Carman once was heard
Will hear our voices join with those
Who magnified the word.
We too are nourished in thy breast
As those who marched to fame,
We share the faith of all the rest
Who gloried in thy name.

Above the elm encrested town
As thou dost stand today
Go forth each year in cap and gown
Thy youth upon their way.
When leaves spread gold upon the hill
Though friends be East and West,
We'll all in spirit have thee still
To guide our endless quest.
