HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

John Murray Anderson to be Doctor of Science

Dr. John Murray Anderson, scholar, scientist, professor, administrator and consultant.

Born and educated in Toronto (University of Toronto, Bachelor of Science in Forestry, 1951, PhD, 1958), Dr. John Anderson has spent the majority of his career in New Brunswick, serving as a professor of biology at UNB Fredericton, director of the Biological Research Station and chief scientist of the Atlantic Salmon Federation, both in St. Andrews, and, from 1973 to 1979, as president of UNB.

Although Dr. Anderson's career did take him further afield – he taught at Carleton University and later headed up the research and development arm of the federal Fisheries Service – his interests clearly remained in New Brunswick, specifically in Charlotte County, where he settled in 1980.

A proponent of aquaculture well before its potential as a multi-million-dollar industry for the province had been recognized, Dr. Anderson played a direct and active role in the establishment of the Atlantic Salmon Federation (ASF), now a world-renowned conservation and educational organization with membership around the world, and the Huntsman Marine Science Centre. As Chief Scientist and Vice-President of Operations for the ASF, Dr. Anderson was responsible for the federation's world-leading genetics and selective breeding program, which played a major role in the success of the Atlantic salmon aquaculture industry which now has become New Brunswick's second largest revenue generator. He was, as well, responsible for other of the federation's research initiatives in both freshwater and the marine area, positioning the ASF to play a key role in resolving some of the issues that have contributed to a prolonged decline in wild Atlantic salmon stocks.

Despite the fact that he was president of UNB during tough financial times for Canadian universities, Dr. Anderson was able to continue the expansion of both campuses with the addition of the G. Forbes Elliot Athletics Centre at UNB Saint John and the Aitken University Centre and the Integrated University Complex at UNB Fredericton. He also presided over the first convocation ceremony at UNB Saint John, encouraged the development of programs in aquaculture and marine biology on both campuses of the university and placed a greater emphasis on the role of research in the university's mission.

Dr. John Anderson is currently a member of a number of organizations, some of which include the Canadian Executive Services Organization, the Advisory Board of the Huntsman Marine Science Centre, the Mackenzie King Scholarship Fund, the St. Croix Estuary Project and the Royal Canadian Geographical Society.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Professor Sir Joseph Rotblat to be Doctor of Science

Professor Sir Joseph Rotblat, Nobel Peace Prize recipient (1995), physicist, Fellow of the Royal Society, Emeritus Professor of Physics at the University of London and Emeritus President of the Pugwash Conferences on Science and World Affairs.

During World War II Professor Rotblat initiated work on the atom bomb at Liverpool University, later transferring to the primary research site in Los Alamos, California. When it became clear that Germany was not working on the bomb, he resigned from the project – the only scientist to do so before the bomb was tested. Professor Rotblat has devoted the subsequent 50 years of his life to averting the danger posed by nuclear weapons. In 1995, he shared the Nobel Peace Prize with the Pugwash Conferences, the organization he helped to establish with Cyrus Eaton and Bertrand Russell.

Born in Warsaw, Poland in 1908, Professor Rotblat was educated in Poland and England and holds a Master of Arts from the University of Poland, a Doctor of Physics from the University of Warsaw, a PhD from the University of Liverpool and a Doctor of Science from the University of London. He is the author of close to 400 publications, including 24 books, his most recent being "A Nuclear-Weapon-Free World: Desirable? Feasible?" (1993), "World Citizenship: Allegiance to Humanity" (1997) and "Nuclear Weapons: The Road to Zero" (1998).

Professor Rotblat has been a member of numerous academies of science. As well as being a founding member of the Pugwash Conferences, he was also co-founder and member of the governing board of the Stockholm International Peace Research Institute.

Sir Joseph has been knighted in Germany, England and Poland and has received numerous honours and awards in addition to the Nobel Peace Prize, including: Commander of the Order of the British Empire (1965); the Bertrand Russell Society Award (1983); Commander, Order of Merit – Poland (1987); the Gold Medal, Czechoslovak Academy of Sciences (1988); the Knight Commander's Cross, Order of Merit from Germany (1989); the Albert Einstein Peace Prize (1992); a Lifetime Achievement Award from the Nuclear Age Peace Foundation (1997); the Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George (1998); the Jamnalal Bajaj Peace Award (1999); and the Toda Peace Prize (2000).

The University of New Brunswick joins other prestigious universities world-wide to have honoured Professor Rotblat. These include: the University of Bradford; the University of Manchester Institute of Science and Technology; the University of Moscow; the University of Liverpool; City University; Richmond University; University College (London, England); and Acadia University.

ABOUT THE CONVOCATION CEREMONY

The Convocation Procession

The word "convocation" means "calling together," and UNB's convocation is truly a gathering of all individuals who are part of the University – students, professors, administrators, staff, alumni, families, and friends. The ceremony starts with the procession of students, special guests, faculty, members of the Senate and of the Board of Governors, the honorary degree recipient(s), the Chancellor and the President.

The Stage

All of the formalities around convocation take place on the stage. The stage may be occupied by the Lieutenant-Governor, representatives of the Federal, Provincial and Municipal governments, the University's Chancellor, the President and Vice-Chancellor, members of the University's Board of Governors, University officials such as Vice-Presidents, Deans and Directors, University alumni, professors emeriti and the honorary degree recipients. The flags at the back of the stage represent the countries that are home to the international students currently studying at UNB Saint John. The banners next to stage represent the various faculties in which students may study at UNB Saint John.

Academic Dress

It is part of the ceremony to wear the academic dress of the institution. It is for this reason that all of the students wear the gown, hood and cap, as do most of the University's faculty and officials. At UNB Saint John, the University's alumni are also invited to wear their academic attire and join the procession.

Latin in the Ceremony

Although Latin has long ceased to be the language of instruction for all university courses, it is traditional to retain it for limited use on occasions of great academic solemnity, such as university convocations. The use of Latin today is a symbol of our academic descent from these earliest universities of mediaeval Europe and a humble reminder that the search for truth is both new and ancient. The Latin that was used in the ceremony today appears in the final pages of this program.

The Ceremonial Mace

The mace symbolizes the authority of the University to award degrees. Introduced in 1996, UNB's ceremonial mace features an antique silver cup atop a wooden shaft. The George II two-handled cup was given to the University in 1995 by S.A.H. Bridge, the great-great-grandson of Sir Howard Douglas, Bart. Sir Howard, Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick from 1823 to 1831, was instrumental in gaining a Royal charter.

The shaft was created by New Brunswick artisan Michiel Oudemans. Crafted from butternut, a wood indigenous to the province, it features elements of the UNB coat of arms and symbols of New Brunswick: the University motto, Sapere aude (Dare to know); a book of learning; beavers (in honour of Lord Beaverbrook, the University's first modern-day Chancellor); a galley; fiddleheads; and Atlantic salmon.

The mace is carried in the procession by the University Secretary.

ACADEMIC DRESS

All graduates and members of the academic procession are attired in the basic elements of academic dress – the academic robe, the hood and the mortar board or Tudor hat. The dress worn by each participant depends upon the academic level attained, with special attire for Bachelors, Masters and Doctors. While tradition has indicated the style or cut of the academic attire, each university amends certain details to suit its particular tastes and traditions.

Following is a guide to UNB's ceremonial dress:

GOWNS

Undergraduates	- Plain black stuff, sleeveless
Bachelors	- Black stuff falling below knee, with full sleeves reaching to the wrist and terminating in a point
Masters	- Black silk or stuff falling below knee, with long sleeves with semi-circular cut bottom
Doctors	- Scarlet cloth, faced with silk of the same colour as the lining of the hood worn
